

Corporate Values

Responsibility / Obligation / Targets

We have a responsibility to all people who are using our products and services and with which we are working together. Therefore it is essential to fulfill always their claims with the highest care and best quality. Each individual is responsible for the personal and professional development to ensure the future expected quality and care. Suitable for this purpose further education and training are necessary. It must always be ensured that our costs in this case are in line that we and our partners achieve a tolerable profit.

We also have a responsibility to our employees and their families. We support our employees in carrying out their responsibilities to their families. We respect regardless of gender, race, creed and ethos, each one as an individual and are respectful to each other, also outside the company. Merits and achievements must be recognized, the compensation must be reasonable and fair. Just as we bear the responsibility for a safe workplace any individual takes responsibility for the company and its working environment. Honesty, openness and respect for others, their property and working equipment are the basic requirement of our actions. Suggestions and complaints are, on an objective level, always welcome and encourage the development of everyone and the company.

We are committed to the community and our environment in which we are living, working and we are taking responsibility for our actions in all areas. As far as our financial situation it allows, we want to support charities and relief organizations, as well as our fair share of taxes. Protecting the environment and improving general living conditions is important to all of us. We are always open to new ideas,.

We are obliged to the shareholders to make a reasonable profit and to promote the development of the company. Losses through resulting errors must be carried, new equipment must be bought and new products and services must be developed. Therefore reserves must be built up for bad times.

These principles provide the basis for all our decisions and our actions!
